As always, I eagerly awaited the vision and wisdom of the famous groundhog ‘Punxsutawny Phil’. To my absolute delight, he didn’t see his shadow and we can now expect an early spring. Nice! With Phil back in his hole and winter winding down, there’s much to report on here at the Tribe.

Several infrastructure projects have been completed, and others are now underway. Two new homes have just been finished in the last week. It’s so exciting to provide six star homes for our families. The engineering for both the new transit bus facility and the clinic expansion is progressing nicely. The plans should be completed and approved in the next couple of months, with construction beginning in the spring or early summer. In addition, we have been renovating the clinic outreach building by soundproofing areas, adding offices, and upgrading space. This has allowed us to provide for our new counselor and our psychiatrist in the future. We are also ready to select our vendor for the complete furniture and cabinetry replacement for the entire clinic. The new grant we received will not only expand the clinic, it will provide new equipment and furniture. Equipment such as new procedure chairs, cold therapy lasers, an x-ray table, and an infusion pump are all being procured.

I am pleased to report that we have received the 2018 draft audit. Once finalized and officially submitted, this will be our 11th consecutive year of clean audit reports and our 9th consecutive year as a low-risk auditee. Congrats and great work go out to Maria and the team.

We are continuing to work hard on our subsistence rights. The permanent regulations for Ninilchik’s gillnet fishery on the Kenai were supposed to be approved at the January Federal Subsistence Board (FSB) meeting. Due to the government shutdown, the meeting has been moved to April and may interfere with getting these regulations finished before the new season. This will require another temporary special action request, however, we will still be able to operate the gillnet regardless. Please be advised that Ninilchik residents will be able to get their Federal subsistence permits at the Soldotna U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Office starting on April 1st, 2019. TRIBAL MEMBERS, please note this date as it is important that you get your permit in Soldotna and bring it by our administrative office as soon as possible, starting April 1st, 2019. The signup is on a first come first served basis for all Ninilchik residents, regardless of membership. If you don’t get your permit early and get it to us here at the office, you may not receive fish if you are down on the list, as last year the fishery was closed early.

Don’t forget the Ninilchik Health Fair put on by the Ninilchik Traditional Council Community Clinic on Saturday, March 30th! Also please mark your calendar for the next Council Meeting on Thursday, February 21st! Thanks.

Fugitive Dust in Ambient Air: Where Does It Come from, and Why does it Matter?
Rob Johnson

Fugitive dust is an air pollutant that can cause serious health problems. Commonly overlooked because many of its sources are natural. Fugitive dust is made up of tiny particles originating from many sources. Disturbed sand and dirt from paved and (especially) unpaved roads, beach sand, forest fires, and volcanic exhaust are the most common sources found on the Kenai Peninsula. Other sources include building construction, manufacturing, along with mining and agricultural activities.

Fugitive dust can collect in the lungs, causing health issues. This is especially dangerous for young children and elders. People with preexisting respiratory conditions (such as asthma, emphysema, or lung cancer) are particularly at risk. In addition, fugitive dust can act as a respiratory and eye irritant.

Commonly, the particles making up fugitive dust are categorized by size. Particles of 2.5 µ (microns) in diameter or smaller are categorized as PM (particulate matter) 2.5. Particles of 10 µ in diameter or smaller are categorized as PM 10. These particles are very small (for comparison, a typical human hair is between 50 µ and 100 µ). Because of this small size, they can easily become lodged deep inside of the lungs. This is especially true of PM 2.5.

Because fugitive dust enters the air from a variety of sources (many, such as beach sand, volcanic ash, and glacial sediments, being byproducts of natural processes), avoiding exposure can be challenging. People at high risk of fugitive dust exposure-related problems can lessen exposure by remaining inside on days when dust levels are particularly high (windy days, for example). These people can also limit the amount of time spent close to dust-producing locations, such as on or near beaches and unpaved roads.

Homeowners can take steps to limit the amount of dust that enters their homes. First, they can assure that their homes are well insulated and sealed, as dust can enter homes through small cracks and other openings. Another step that private landowners can take is to reduce the amount of bare ground on their land. This can be accomplished by covering any bare ground from construction projects or unused garden beds with tarps or similar barriers. Fences can also be erected around bare areas to prevent the movement of dust. In the case of garden beds, cover crops can be also used. These steps can prevent exposure to fugitive dust on private properties.

Salmon Chowder

Ingredients -

- 1 salmon fillet (16 oz) cut into 1 inch cubes (you can use already cooked leftovers OR uncooked)
- 3 Tablespoons butter
- 1 medium yellow onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 3 cloves fresh garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup diced carrots
- 2 cups diced potatoes
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1 teaspoon sea salt
- 1 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 0.5 teaspoons red pepper flakes
- 1.5 cups whole milk
- 1 cup frozen corn
- 1.5 cups cheddar cheese, shredded
- 2 cups kale, torn into pieces and rinsed with cold water

Directions -

1. Melt butter in a large pot over medium heat. Add the onion, celery, and garlic and sauté until onions are tender. Stir in potatoes, carrots, chicken broth, salt, pepper, dill, and red pepper flakes. Bring to a boil, reduce heat to low, add kale and simmer (covered) for 25 minutes.
2. Stir in salmon, milk, corn, and cheese. Cook salmon chowder until heated through.

Makes 4-6 servings

Rain, Rain, Go Away. Come Again in, like...March. Wow, the start of 2019 has been a wet one! Lots of rain - looking a little like break–up. Just a friendly reminder that more rain and ice means more ice-melt on our porch, so please remember to bring your clean shoes to change into. We keep our Club in such great shape with your help and cooperation. Thank you!!

Have you seen our new Gym Wipes?? They’ve replaced our disinfectant spray bottles all around the gym, and they’re much more sanitary for you, our Club members! These antibacterial surface wipes are EPA registered to kill 99.9% of germs and bacteria in just 15 seconds, as well as MRSA, HIV-1, H1N1, E coli, and much more.
These wipes are free of bleach, alcohol, and phenol.

Many of these same techniques are also helpful in commercial settings. Although often impractical for the average private landowner, water can be used to limit dust levels entering the air. Simply wetting areas of bare ground can prevent these particles from becoming airborne. Additionally, commercial products exist that are even more effective at preventing dust from entering the air. Some of these products include lignin sulfonates, petroleum resins, salts, plastics, and other wetting agents. Fogging the area with water containing silica flour, sulfur dioxide, or fly ash has also been proven effective.

In the United States, the Clean Air Act requires construction and industrial project designs to consider fugitive dust creation. Steps must be taken to minimize its creation. The individual states also have their own laws for dust reduction.

In Alaska, commercial activities that create fugitive dust require a state-issued permit. These permits specify how much dust can be generated. According to Alaska state law (18 AAC 50.045), “a person who causes or permits bulk material to be handled, transported, or stored, or who engages in an industrial activity or construction project shall take reasonable precautions to prevent particulate matter from being emitted into the ambient air”.

Residents can make official, anonymous complaints if dust levels from a particular source seem excessive. Complaints can be sent to:

https://myalaska.state.ak.us/dec/air/airtoolsweb/PublicPermitsListings.aspx

While often overlooked, fugitive dust can be a hazardous component of air pollution, especially for at-risk individuals. Excessive dust can cause health problems and discomfort in humans. While some fugitive dust is inevitable from both natural processes and human activity, steps taken to limit the amount in the atmosphere is beneficial to everyone.
Hello wonderful Tribal members,

I hope you all had a wonderful, safe Christmas and New Year’s Eve. The winter solstice has passed, and we are now on the swing back to summer and fresh smoked fish. Yippeeeeee!

Here is an update on the two homes that we are building here in Ninilchik. These two homes should be finished this next week or shortly thereafter. We have two Ninilchik Tribal families that will be moving into these 6-star energy rated homes. What a wonderful start in life for a young family. I will be posting pictures of these homes on our website when the construction is done. In the meantime, I have included a few here for you to look at.

Homeownership Program is for low income Alaskan Native or American Indians who reside within our Tribal Boundary service area. Currently the Homeownership Program is a non-interest, zero down, 30-year mortgage. You will only pay us back half of what it costs us to build it, as long as you do not default upon the agreed, signed documents. In other words, if it cost us $250,000 to build, you will owe us $125,000 back, which is spread out over a thirty-year mortgage. That would make your monthly mortgage payment of roughly $347.22. You will need to budget for the property taxes and replacement insurance (if you set aside in a savings account a match of your mortgage, you will find that you are within a few dollars when its time to make those payments). That would be roughly $695.00 total a month for a 3-bedroom, 2 bath, NEW 6-star home. If interested, please come by the NTC office and pick up an application.

I want to wish you and your families a wonderful and safe start to the New Year.

Bob

Tribal Services Christmas Food Boxes

Tribal Services was very busy this past holiday season. We purchased items for and delivered eighteen food boxes to needy families within our tribal boundaries. While we did not get the usual amount of children’s items donated to us this year, we did however get a gracious donation from a local Pastor that works with prisoners at Wildwood. Through their donation we were also able to send hand-crafted, wooden toys with those food boxes for the children in those homes. A huge “Thank You” to the Pastor and his woodworking elves for brightening the day of all the children that received these donated toys for Christmas.

Pictured below is the dry goods that we gave out in the Christmas food boxes and the wooden toys donated to us by the “elves”. We did not take pictures of the frozen and refrigerated food items but each family on our list received large food boxes to ensure there was extra food in the home during the extended holiday break when children are home with their families.
NTC Tribal Services Child Care Assistance

NTC Tribal Services provides a Child Care assistance program for eligible tribal members and we help subsidize the cost of child care for those eligible families to help defer some of the costs incurred while child care is needed. We currently have multiple families utilizing the program in conjunction with our local and State Licensed Rosewood Daycare which is run by one of our own tribal members. If you have any questions regarding this program, you can contact Alicia Morris at 567-3313 or you can pick up applications at the NTC Admin Office.

Rosewood Daycare

The little ones that attend Rosewood enjoy an array of activities to help grow their minds, build social relationships, and expand emerging skills in a safe and nurturing environment. Rosewood Daycare utilizes the Ninilchik School Pool weekly to help little ones learn water skills and safety from an early age. Rosewood also provides cultural activities and traditional foods (when available) to help integrate Ninilchik culture into the care they provide and their facility.

Rosewood currently has three open slots available but with spring and summer approaching we anticipate those slots being filled within the next couple months. Availability at Rosewood is limited so don’t wait to claim a slot for your child. Contact Anna Grant at Rosewood Daycare by email rosewooddaycare@yahoo.com or by phone at 907-980-9254.

For more information about childcare please contact Alicia Morris at 567-3313 or amorris@ninilchiktribe-nsn.gov
Elders Outreach Program Coordinator

The Elders Outreach Program runs a luncheon at noon out of the Subsistence Building every Monday. Luncheons coming up for the following months are as follows:

- Monday February 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th
- Monday March 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th
- Monday April 1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd and 29th

As a friendly reminder, the luncheon exists to serve as a social space for Enrolled Tribal Elders to gather, share & visit. Elders are encouraged if they’d like to bring a guest, family or be accompanied by a caregiver to do so, there is a suggested donation box at the back for this purpose. While it is a provided luncheon for Tribal Elders to attend, it also serves many homebound Elders who cannot drive or have other needs that prevent them from attending. This luncheon is for the enrolled Tribal Elders and we ask that you are mindful of others who are not able to attend who look forward to their luncheon food delivered to their home.

My office is open and welcomes your input to make this program grow and thrive. We have hosted teaching classes on Perok, net mending, building nets, canning jams and jellies as well offering the space and ability to learn how to butcher moose, salmon and other relevant foods. If you have a local, cultural or traditional talent and would like to offer a class to share your craft, please let me know anytime.

The Elders Outreach Program welcomes Tribal Elders interest in day trips, travel, local and historical excursions, to share some social space with one another while seeing the changes that have taken place on the Kenai Peninsula. If you are interested in attending events such as NYO, AFN, Historical events or cultural/traditional events offered around the Peninsula, more than likely others are as well- just call or email me and I will be happy to suggest how we can attend these events collectively. Check us out on Facebook too, search Ninilchik Elders!

As always, my office is open and other than providing luncheons, I help those who need prescription pickups, rides for groceries and local rides to and from the clinic or post office. If you are in need of, or have other needs that prevent them from attending. This luncheon is for the enrolled Tribal Elders and we ask that you are mindful of others who are not able to attend who look forward to their luncheon food delivered to their home.

Finding the care and services you need can sometimes be the most time consuming. These contact numbers and websites may make it easier for your needs. Every week of the month I receive updates from SDS e-alerts, these are new changes to health care services and operating procedures for Elders, PCA (Personal Care Assistants), respite workers, VA, et cetera. However, this site is available and easy to maneuver should you need more care, at home services or have questions. The website for Alaska’s Department of Health and Social Services Senior and Disabilities Services is dhss.alaska.gov/dsds

For more information about fostering please contact Bettyann Steciw at bettyann@ninilchiktribe-nsn.gov

FOSTER PARENTING

You will fall in love with kids who will go back to hard places, and you will struggle to show love to children who have downright awful behaviors. (Foster parents don’t like to talk about that one, but yes, some children are hard to love, and yes, it’s usually the ones that need that love the most.) Becoming a foster parent is a calling. It’s not about you. It’s not about me. It’s about the children in need of aid.

Your Role as a Licensed Foster Parent

As a foster parent, you are responsible to provide temporary care, giving the child who has been placed out-of-home a safe, stable, and nurturing environment. During this time of disruption and change, you are giving a child a home. The role of the foster parent is to:

- Agree to supervise, support and provide positive family experiences to a foster child.
- Work cooperatively and actively with the assigned worker and the child’s parent toward reunification goals as outlined in the case plan and the permanency plan, so the child can return home when appropriate.
- When appropriate, role model experiences for the child’s family, and be an active participant in the child’s case plan.
- Understand the need for, and goals of, family contacts and help develop such contacts.
- Help the child cope with the separation from his or her home.
- Provide guidance, discipline, a good example, and as many positive experiences as possible.
- Encourage and supervise school attendance, participate in teacher conferences, and keep the child’s assigned worker informed about any special educational needs.
- Work with the agency in arranging for the child’s regular and/or special medical and dental care.
- Work with the child on creating a Life Book.
- Inform the assigned worker

If you are interested in becoming a licensed foster family contact Bettyann Steciw at bettyann@ninilchiktribe-nsn.gov.

Early Learning Program

If you are looking for at home respite care, in home services and care taking services, the state of Alaska has changed the routine on how to qualify. First you would call the Independent Living Center at 907-262-6333 in Kenai or 907-235-7911 in Homer, set up a time for them to come meet you, to understand your needs and try to understand if there is a physical impairment and qualifying parameters, such as Medicaid or income status- once your referral process is complete, you would then be able to set up care coordination for your needs. Sometimes this process can be daunting and overwhelming. I can help you with contacting the Independent Living Center and help to fill out paperwork. The same can be said for VA services and needs. If you want contact with the VA, the updated Choice program, then please feel free to call at any time. The VA direct number for the updated Choice Waiver is 907-257-3720.

There is a luncheon provided for Enrolled Tribal Elders on Mondays, if you are interested, please contact me regarding this service. Rides are limited to medical, behavioral health, medications, approved flights in from Kenai/Homer and grocery runs. Ninilchik Traditional Councils BUMPS Ride Program has also started providing rides from the Ninilchik area to Soldotna, Kenai and Homer, if you have questions regarding this bus program please call 907-567-3815. If you need other transportation services, the Ninilchik Senior Center at 907-567-3988 provides rides once a week as well.

If you are enrolled or are just looking for help in this area and are 55+, please feel free to call me, the Elders Outreach Program Coordinator, Tiffany Stonecipher at 907-567-3331 or my cell phone 907-953-0273.

Alaska’s Aging & Disability Resource Center (ADRC) connects seniors, people with disabilities, and caregivers with long-term services and supports of their choice. The ADRC network serves Alaskans statewide, regardless of age or income level, through regional sites.

For assistance, call the site nearest you or 1-877-6AK-ADRC (1-877-625-2372) toll-free.

ADRCs are part of a federal effort to help people more easily access the long-term services and supports available in their communities. That might include transportation, assistive technology, or in-home care. The ADRC goal is to be a trusted resource. ADRC specialists counsel callers and visitors on long-term supports that fit their circumstances. People choose which services they would like, then the ADRC specialists help people access those services.

The Elders Outreach Program is an organization of the Ninilchik Traditional Council whose purpose is providing services to Elders, 55+, in our tribal boundaries that enhance quality of life, integrity of heritage and emblematic of respect and dignity, continuously promoting independent living while simultaneously capturing the history and traditions of our culture.

Warm regards,
Tiffany

Ninilchik Traditional Council’s Youth Outreach is anchored in education and prevention. Studies consistently show that the negative cognitive, behavioral and social impacts of growing up in adversity can be reversed by youth participating in prevention programs and having a relationship with a mentor. Our goal is to provide safe, alternative activities to youth where they can develop their interpersonal and character skills in order to have a brighter future. As indicated in extensive research, investing in our youth is the best possible investment we could make in the future development and success of our community.

During the school year, we host daily events for Ninilchik youth with the goal of providing substance free, pro-social activities that encourage self-esteem, leadership, respect, ownership, and community connectedness.

Monday-Thursday: Study Hall/Life Skills 3:30-5:30

Friday: Teen Center 3:30-8:30 (7th and 8th 3:30-6:00)

Study Hall: Study Hall is our after-school program located in the Teen Center. We provide a quiet learning environment for students to complete homework, projects, and receive tutoring. They may utilize our resources like computers, printers, pens, paper, books, markers, etc.

Life Skills: Life Skills was developed to assist students in acquiring the skills needed as they progress through adolescence and into adulthood. They learn skills such as accountability, meeting deadlines, resume writing, applying for scholarships, interview skills, and many others.
